No Work, No Relief Says Town Council

The Town Council with all Councillors and Solicitor Ostlund and Sec. Treas. met Thursday night in regular session. The minutes of the last regular and two special meetings were read and with the Cash statement were accepted. The statement brought out a number of startling facts. Relief costs in the Town are constantly mounting, and it is going to require the cooperation of the citizens of the Town and close checking on the part of the Council to keep this item down.

A couple of delegations were heard respecting Relief problems, and their cases tabled for investigation. A discussion growing out of this and other relief matters resulted in the Council deciding that all future relief granted would have to be worked for. There are drainage ditches that need digging, water leaks that need attention, and holes in the streets that need gravelling, and relief applicants will be invited to shoulder a shovel and do a certain amount of work upon the completion of which an order for groceries or other relief would be granted. It has been the experience in the past that relief issued in anticipation of having it worked out later was never worked out, and this practice is to be discontinued and work in advance for relief will be the plan.

A report was made on the Water Storage proposition south of Town and the ultimate success of this venture is hopeful, although the Town is now awaiting the acceptance of plans and registration of rights by the Province.

The reports of Town officials were read, and the pay roll passed and ordered paid. Drs. Leech and Weins were present with a number of old accounts and after considerable discussion a compromise on charges was reached and the accounts ordered paid in monthly instalments to get them cleared up.

Solon Low Heard Tuesday Night

More than 200 people were present at the High School Building Tuesday evening to listen to the address by Solon Low, M. L. A., speaking on recent legislation at Edmonton, and other Social Credit items.

He spent considerable time on the Covenants and Pledges explaining in detail the various clauses of the Agriculturists' pledge, and stated that there was a difference between a contract and an agreement, and because of the nature of the document that people were being asked to sign for dividend payment, there was no need of the Government signing to it. He also spoke of the recent debt legislation, and the great benefit it would be to so many citizens of this province.

Referring to the dividend and the use of Alberta Credit, he stated that Credit Houses would be set up all over the Province, and that by November 1st they hoped to be issuing dividends. This Alberta Credit would be good for every purpose, and wholesalers and manufacturers who did not feel to co-operate would be counted out and others would be given the business, for this plan was going to succeed. In side of six months said the speaker, this Alberta Credit would be good for payment of all kinds of taxes, and any other accounts one had to settle.

EDNA BREWERTON YOUNG PASSES

Word reached here Thursday night of the sudden and unexpected passing in Salt Lake City of Mrs. Edna Brewerton Young, daughter of C. W. Brewerton and sister of the local Brewerton boys. Growing up in Raymond she was well known here and after her marriage to Spencer Young, she remained here with her husband for a number of years before moving to Salt Lake. She had undergone an operation but was reported to be doing fine when news came of her death. Sympathy is extended to the father and brothers in their bereavement. No funeral announcement has been received as yet.

PASSION PLAY HAS GOOD ATTENDANCE

Despite the storm and muddy roads, a very good attendance was present at the Opera House for the presentation last Saturday night of the "Passion Play" an annual event in Europe attended by tens of thousands of people each year.

The film was brought to Raymond by the Association for Religious Education, and was presented under the sponsorship of the Raymond First Ward. Many favorable comments were heard respecting it, and every one left with a greater appreciation of the life and ministry of the Babe of Bethlehem.

This week end the same association will present "The Way to World Peace," a film which should hold a great deal of interest for everyone, especially in view of the unsettled conditions existing amongst the nations.

NEWS NOTES

Ed. Hawk and John Lugos had the tractor and grader out on the streets Monday pulling the sides of the road up a bit.

Due to the stormy weather Saturday the crowd to the Black Hawks dance was rather small.

It won't be long now before Jack Frost will turn all the flower gardens and vegetables a nice sickly color. Nights are real cool.

Meetings of the local Parent Teachers group commenced this afternoon when a party was held at the A. C. lawns with the pupils of both Public and High Schools present, and with Prof. Jos. F. Smith as speaker.

Mountain slopes are devoid of snow, lakes and streams are low, and from all appearances unless we have a winter of heavy and continual snows, we are going to face another very dry season next year.

There was famine of Prosperity Certificate stamps here Tuesday, and it was not until Wednesday noon that "Mutt" arrived with a supply from Lethbridge.

It was reported that Hon. C. C. Ross, Minister of Lands and Mines and Solon Low, M. L. A., were in the district Wednesday looking over the water storage proposition south of town. We heard nothing official of their visit nor their report.

Gov.-General Is Welcomed

Raymond made history on Wednesday, when in a brief but impressive ceremony its citizens welcomed and listened to Lord Tweedmuir, Governor-General of Canada, on a tour of the west, visiting personally with the people to partake of their spirit and see their conditions. This is the first visit of a Governor-General to Raymond or over thirty years.

While the arrangements were made on short notice, everything went off smoothly and satisfactorily. The vice-regal company were greeted by Town officials and escorted to the small platform in front of the Cenotaph. Led by J. O. Hicken the school pupils who were all lined up by the sidewalk sang "O Canada." A brief message of welcome was given by Mayor May on behalf of the Town.

His Excellency spoke his admiration of the splendid gathering of boys and girls and stated it was the finest he had met yet. He also made them rejoice when he proclaimed a school holiday for them. He expressed his appreciation of the memorial, and the large audience who had stopped their daily tasks to join with the crowd in welcoming him. He would have happiness in conveying to His Majesty the King, the good wishes of the people of Raymond and Western Canada.

The placing of the wreath, inspection of the Vets, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides and the singing of the National Anthem completed a brief and enjoyable ceremony and the party continued on to the Sugar Factory for a tour of inspection under the guidance of Manager T. Geo. Wood.

Following this the party continued on to Magrath where they received a civic welcome, and then to the McIntyre Ranch for luncheon and a tour of inspection of the splendid herds of White faces on the McIntyre acres. The youth of the land will always remember the visit of the Governor-General and his party to Raymond.

NEWS NOTES

Joseph Flexhaug, Raymond, and Miss Helen Chollak, Lethbridge, were married in Lethbridge last Tuesday. The young couple will make their home in Raymond.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Brewerton (Mrs. Harding Brewerton) and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Brewerton (Mrs. Leech) left for Salt Lake Friday morning to attend the funeral of Mrs. Edna Brewerton Young.

Sam Dyson and several others from here attended the reception for the Governor General in Lethbridge on Monday.

The big sign of the Canadian Utilities, Limited was taken down Wednesday. It is hoped that another one will soon take its place as this was quite a landmark with its colored Neon lighting.

Elmer Burr and C. E. Hancock are spending a week or ten days in Utah visiting with friends and relatives. They left Tuesday morning taking Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis back with them after an extended visit here with relatives and friends.

"World Peace" Talking Motion Picture Coming Here

To be shown at Raymond on Saturday, September 12th.

The great new talking film on "WORLD PEACE", costing one quarter of a million dollars to produce, and endorsed by leading Religious, Educational and political authorities, is to be given at the Opera House, on Saturday, September 12th, at 8 o'clock p.m.

TREMENDOUS DRAMA!

One of the mightiest film dramas of all times, this new talking picture, entitled "THE WAY TO WORLD PEACE," is a scathing and gripping indictment of war. Based on the well developed and readily acknowledged theme that ignorance, superstition, greed, and intolerance have been the greatest enemies of Civilization, through all the ages, this film clearly shows how mankind can defeat these evil forces through freedom of speech, and peace and the practical application in the daily life of all humanity, of the principles of Christianity.

Its motive is to promote World Brotherhood, International Peace and good-will, among all races, and to compel the thinking people to abandon War, with its awful horrors and gigantic evils, and to bring into permanent existence, a period of brotherly love and World Peace, amongst the Nations of the World.

ENDORSED BY NATION'S LEADERS!

The picture was filmed on a magnificent scale, with lavish and spectacular backgrounds, with all star principals and a massive cast of twenty five thousand supporting players. It has won the highest praise from critics and authorities in religious, educational and political circles. Among others of National prominence, it was most heartily applauded and endorsed by President & Mrs. Roosevelt at a private showing at the White House, in Washington, District of Columbia.

This "WORLD PEACE" film being presented by the "National Bureau for Religious and Educational Films," of New York City, inaugurates a Nation wide presentation of instructional and religious films in Churches, Schools, Colleges, and so forth.

The general public are most cordially invited. There will be no admission charge, a silver offering being taken to assist in defraying the expenses. The presentation is made locally under the auspices of the Raymond First Ward.

Calgary Power Takes Over Can. Utilities

W. I. HOLD MEETING

The W. I. Meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ira McBride on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 10th. The meeting opened by singing "O Canada" the Creed was repeated in unison, minutes of the June meeting were read and adopted, and the roll call was answered by reciting a favorite recipe.

A talk on "Money Matters" was given by Alma Hancock. Solos were rendered by Mrs. Earl Scoville and her little son, Monte. The report on handicraft was given by Mrs. Elsie Stevenson. Current events were read by Mrs. Bob Webster. Two piano duets were played by Misses Margaret Allen and Margaret McBride. Mrs. Miller announced the chairman of standing committees for the coming year. The financial report was given by Mrs. Miff Allred. Little Miss Beth McBride delighted the ladies by rendering two solos. Mrs. Webster and Dejeu von the shopping bags for selling the most tickets on the Afghan and Mrs. T. Allen won the door prize which was donated by Mrs. Wm. Paris. Meeting closed by singing the National Anthem.

Theodore Ehlert was busy Monday repairing the steps on the Broadway block, part of the cement falling off over the week end.

Prof. Smith To Speak At Second Ward Tonight

"Journey's End", the famous English war play by R. C. Sherwood, and "Idiot's Delight," the recent Pulitzer Prize play by Robert E. Sherwood, will be two of the anti-war plays to be discussed tonight by Prof. Smith in the second Ward Chapel at 8:15.

Prof. Smith's play reviews in southern Alberta cities have met with unparalleled enthusiasm wherever they have been given. A crowded tabernacle greeted him in Cardston on Sunday when he read George Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan," and the Playgoer's Club, Lehigh, discriminating theatre clientele sat fascinated as he told them about "Winter and Murder in the Cathedral" on Wednesday night.

Prof. Smith has chosen his favorite plays for his Raymond engagement tonight, and a large audience is expected to hear the eminent speaker review examples of the best present day dramaturgy. Mr. Smith maintains that one of the best methods of attacking war is to ridicule it, and proceeds to show particularly in "Idiot's Delight," what a powerful weapon ridicule can be when applied as effectively as Sherwood has used it. This Pulitzer Prize Play is a brilliant high comedy, replete with scintillating dialogue and bits of stinging satire on our present war machine. The play itself is still running on Broadway, with the famous Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne playing the leading roles.

"Journey's End" is a powerfully moving tragedy of realistic life at a war torn front, and probably will go down in history as one of the greatest war plays ever written.

Students will be admitted tonight for 25c. Adults 35c.

On Tuesday of this week the Calgary Power Co., Ltd., took over the interests of the Canadian Utilities, Ltd., including the office lease and the property at the Power House, on the north end of Broadway as well as the distribution system of the Company. The phones are maintained, and the numbers kept, viz. No. 20 for the office and 21 for the Power House.

Mr. D. S. Robertson is District Manager of the Company having under his charge Magrath, Stirling, New Dayton, Warner, Milk River and Raymond. Mr. Fred Gale who has been here for some months past with the Canadian Utilities, is remaining with the Calgary Power Co. Ltd., as Local Manager and will assist Mr. Robertson in looking after Southern Alberta.

As a further convenience Wm. Greep is continuing an electrical store and Radio shop in the store premises and will stock electrical goods of all kinds from light globes to electric ranges. A good range of radios will also be kept in stock and service will be offered the public in all their needs.

Mr. Tollstrup, who has been Manager of the Canadian Utilities Ltd., for a long while is going to Calgary for the present, awaiting his permanent appointment. We wish him and his family the best of success in their future endeavors.

The officials of the Town and the Calgary Power Co. have been in caucus respecting rates, and so on and something definite in this respect will likely be ready for announcement soon. Read the announcement of the Power Co. in this issue.

J. W. EVANS DAMAGES CAR

Driving home from meeting Sunday evening J. W. Evans collided with the rear end of D. A. Bennett's truck which was standing on the road side near the corner of the Mrs. Coreless home. No one was injured, and damages were confined to the radiator, and front grill of the car, one fender slightly dented and one light broken off.

Another car coming up the street with lights on full force, blinded Mr. Evans so that he did not see the parked truck. He dimmed his own lights several times in an effort to get the other driver to dim his lights while passing but to no avail, and the collision and damaged car resulted.

NEWS NOTES

Our next holiday will be Thanksgiving Day in October.

Visitors to the Glacier Park region around Many Glaciers hotel since the forest fire tell heart breaking stories of the path of ruin left by the forest fire. Millions and millions of black burned tree trunks standing and 90 cottages besides a large number of beautiful summer homes fell in the path of the flames. The beautiful Many Glacier Hotel was saved by the narrowest margin, the flames getting within a very few yards of the building both at the one end and the rear of it. One can only surmise what the spectacle was when the hungry flames fanned by a driving wind were licking at the dry trees and underbrush.

WHAT ABOUT A NEW FRANCHISE?

With the change in ownership from the Canadian Utilities Limited, to the Calgary Power Co., the latter would like to negotiate a new ten year franchise with the Town, supplanting the present one, which still has two years to run. The decision rests with the Council as servants of the people. The old franchise must continue for the two years in the decision is to that effect. At the same time there are certain advantages to be gained under the terms of the proposed new contract, and the question is shall we carry on as at present, or shall we give a new franchise?

There are a number of things to consider, and the Council is endeavoring to weigh them all before taking any action. A great deal has happened during the past eight years of the old franchise that were unforeseen when the franchise was decided on, in signing a new franchise are we going to be tied up to something that we would rather not have had? There are decided advantages that will accrue immediately to the users of electrical energy under the proposed new arrangement. Many are urging that the Council accept the proposal offer at once and get the new rates into effect.

It is the hope of the Council that the rates of the proposed new franchise may be published shortly so that consumers can take their average consumption and figure out just what the difference would be under the new arrangement as compared with the old franchise. While the saving to domestic users over the Town as pointed out in the last issue was about $600 the saving to individual users was small, and the very slight increase in the few cases was practically negligible. On the other hand the savings in commercial lighting to merchants and other business houses were considerable, as were the power rates for those on power hook ups. It should be remembered too, that the Company maintains a standard rate throughout all the towns and cities it serves in Alberta. The difference comes in the service charge, and in this respect Raymond is with the three lowest towns in Alberta having a 30c. service charge along with Camrose and High River, service charges in other towns ranging as high as $2.00 per month, depending upon gross revenue from the Town served.

It is the desire of the Town Council to do the thing that will be in the best interest of the town and its people. Obviously if we are to accept the offered franchise, the sooner it is ratified the better for all concerned. If we don't accept it, then what shall we do? We can carry on under the old one but in so doing we will be paying out money that might well be used for other purposes. We may be able to purchase the power plant and distribution system and run our own plant. If we were sure we wanted to, Raymond has had some experience in this respect, and from the records it was not the most profitable business in the world. And so, while the Council wrestles with the question, citizens would do well to consider the problem from all angles. The Council cannot ask for favors above other consumption and revenue, with the definite understanding that any considerations that may be possible will be passed on to us, regardless of the rigidity of the Franchise. In view of the fact that the Calgary Power Co. is supplying 200 or more towns and villages in Alberta with electrical energy, it is fairly evident that when economies in distribution can be effected they will be in a position to take advantage of the new economies, and by so doing, pass on the savings to the consumer.

The Council, according to their expressed wishes, will welcome discussion and suggestions from citizens on this matter, which they feel is very important.

UNITED GRAIN GROWERS DECLARE DIVIDEND

A Dividend at the rate of three per cent has been declared by the Directors of United Grain Growers Limited, for the financial year ending July 31st, 1936. Cheques will be mailed on September 15th, 1936, to share holders of record at the close of business July 31st.

Blessed with beautiful weather the Governor-General and his party were enjoying their drives over the broad acres of Southern Alberta.

Broadway has been improved near the dead man by the gravel that John Barcom has hauled into the low places.

Miss E. Walscott is home again now after a month spent at Banff. She reports a very enjoyable time and is pleased with the improvement at this popular resort.

A REAL MAN

(By John Edwin Price)

There are many ideas in the world concerning what marks a man as a man.

The physically cultured man of spring steel muscles is the ideal of some.

The walking encyclopaedia calls forth the admiration of others.

The gentleman whose consideration of others is flawless, whose manners are correct, appeals to many.

The brusque, driving business man who smashes through his arguments or plans regardless of whom he hurts or maims, calls forth the acclaim of a few.

Of course each of the above, taken singly, is in most instances the out-standing or distinguishing characteristic of a man whose whole self combines several of the other qualities in varying proportions.

However, I wish to bring to your notice a distinguishing mark of a man which is superior to any previously mentioned.

A boy accidentally shot a friend of mine a few days ago. The bullet entered the abdomen and lodged in the liver. This friend walked across the street into my place of business. After the simple undramatic announcement of what had happened, his remarks thereafter, for the most part had to do with his duty to others.

Though in terrible pain, he first thought of his duty, instructing a bystander to get word to the post office that someone else would have to carry the next mail to the train. He next asked another friend to break the news to his wife as gently as possible, also asking him to look after his immediate financial affairs. He then absolved the boy of blame in the words, "If the troopers come, tell them it was just an accident."

He thought to send for his bonus bonds and signed them

WEEKLY LETTER

THE CONTROL OF WHEAT STEM SAWFLY IN STRIP FARMING AREAS

The Dominion Entomological Laboratory at Lethbridge operated by the Entomological Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture have kindly contributed the letter for this week. They will deal further with the wheat stem sawfly in next week's letter.

The wheat stem sawfly (Cephus cinctus Nort.) is one of the major insect pests of wheat on the Canadian prairies. This insect was originally confined to those areas known as the "long grass prairie" and was unable to exist in the short bunch grass of the open plains. With the breaking up of this latter type of grass and replacing it with wheat, which was a more suitable host plant, the sawfly was enabled to spread throughout the greater part of the prairie area. The wide spread production of wheat has also added the increase in the numbers of the sawfly more rapidly than would have been possible under natural conditions and has resulted in frequent extensive outbreaks which have caused serious losses to wheat growers.

The adult sawflies lay their eggs in stems of grains or grasses during the last of June and early July. Only those stems which have headed out or are about to head are chosen and the eggs are laid inside the hollow portion of the stem.

The larvae hatching from these eggs feed up and down the inside of the stem through out the season. There is seldom any outward sign of infestation, but if the stems are split the hollow center will be seen to be filled with fine dust and the white maggot will be found somewhere in the stem. Several eggs may be deposited in one stem but only one larva survives therefrom to reach maturity. As the stem matures the larva works its way to the base, tunnelling the stem to the very root of the plant. It then cuts the stem from the inside just about the soil level, retires below the cut, and plugs the stub with the "dust made" in feeding. The upper portion of the stem breaks off and falls to the ground. The larva spins a cocoon which lines the entire portion of the stub and spends the winter there.

As the soil warms up in the spring the larva changes to a pupa from which the adult emerges late in June. Both the larva and the pupa are fairly active and can move up and down inside the stub. This enables them to retire sufficiently below the soil surface to avoid unfavorable conditions of temperature or moisture.

TRAP CROPS have been found to be a most effective method of control. This consists of seeding a strip of crop susceptible to sawfly attack so that it will be sufficiently advanced to be more attractive to egg laying sawflies than is the crop to be protected. The larva which develop in the trap crop are then destroyed by cutting, as in the case of wheat and rye, in mid-July or by the plant itself as in the case of brome grass.

The trap crop is seeded as a strip from 20 to 30 feet wide around the outside edge of the field as early in the season as possible. If the field was summer-fallowed the previous season any infestation which might occur must come in from the edges after passing over

Grain Trade and Minimum Price

The Western Producer in its issue of September 3rd, referring to the decision of the government in regard to the minimum price for wheat and its reception by Western farmers, says:

"To them and to many of those whom they elected it must have come as a cruel disillusionment to find that their government chose TO LISTEN TO AND BE GUIDED BY THE GRAIN TRADE and other reactionary elements in their midst while refusing even to acknowledge the submissions of organized agriculture."

The implication that the grain trade or any section of it has at any time made representations to the Government, or to the Canadian Wheat Board, or has tendered advice to those bodies, relative to the establishment of the minimum price for wheat at 87½ cents per bushel or any other figure, IS ABSOLUTELY FALSE.

The interest of wheat producers and of the grain trade are identical in regard to grain prices. The prosperity of the grain trade in Canada is bound up with the prosperity of producers. It has no interest in keeping prices down. The figure at which the minimum price should be set is a matter to be decided by the Government having in view the loss which it might be prepared to sustain in the event of a decline in world wheat values. The grain trade has repeatedly stated its belief that producers must be assisted to overcome the adverse conditions resulting from drought and excessively low prices. But it has been opposed to attempts to fix the price at which Canadian grain should be offered in the export markets or to hold Canadian wheat at prices above its relative value in world markets. Because such attempts must result in (a) loss of markets and diminution of sales, (b) the creation of burdensome surpluses, (c) eventual loss both to producers and taxpayers, and (d) encouragement of uneconomic and high-cost production by our competitors.

In the continuance of the open market for grain and the preservation of every available channel through which Canadian grain can be sold are to be found a guarantee of the best returns to Canadian producers. To maintain such returns is as much the desire and interest of the grain trade as of the producers themselves.

There is room for honest difference of opinion as to what the minimum price should be. But there is no justification for false imputations of motive and act.

IN CANADADANGER OF FASTING

Is there danger in bodily starvation? Since time immemorial fasting has been observed for many purposes. In former years its significance was largely religious; in recent years prolonged fasting, except in India and certain other oriental countries, has been largely associated with the theories held by various cultists that fasting is a cure for many diseases.

During starvation combustion of body tissue naturally continues. This is essential to life, to the production of body heat. The excretion of nitrogenous and carbonaceous waste continues through the kidneys, the skin and through the lungs. In the absence of food the body tissues are themselves burnt and there is a definite loss of weight. If water is available the loss of weight is not so rapid and life may be considerably prolonged. Occasional one day fasts may be beneficial, but prolonged starvation means more than a rapid combustion of body tissue. Were that all, prolonged starvation might be freely recommended to all overweight people. The danger lies in the development of acidosis.

If a coal fire is lighted with insufficient kindling, it will smoke rather than burn clearly. Like coal, body tissues do not burn readily and require the kindling, certain properly assimilated starches and sugars, to produce perfect combustion.

Imperfect combustion, as when the intake of readily burnt or metabolized food is cut off, liberates so-called "acetone bodies". These are found in the blood and urine in certain diseases such as severe diabetes or uremic poisoning, but appear in normal individuals during starvation about the fourth or fifth day.

About this time the desire for food dwindles. This may be because of the beginning acidosis which may explain also the temporary stage of mental acuity said to be experienced by those fasting for supernatural insight or power.

The presence of acetone or such abnormal acids as diacetic acid in the blood is not particularly dangerous if the cause be promptly corrected, but if they remain and increase in concentration as in prolonged starvation, considerable damage may result.

In one instance observed by the writer of voluntary starvation, except for water, extending over a period of fifty one days, the patient was practically unconscious from toxemia. Intravenous injections of glucose and insulin corrected the acidosis, but too late; there were gangrenous areas throughout the liver. Do not be a fanatic in fasting.

JUST AS WELL NOT TO KNOW

- how fast your car will go.
- whether or not your boss will take an insult and not fire you.
- how much liquor you can hold.
- how long you can hold your breath or stand on your head.
- the latest smutty story.
- how many more years you can go on stuffing without a strike of your vital organs.
- how long you will last on the job after your enthusiasm lags.
- when you're lied to.
- how many commandments you can break without breaking yourself.
- whether or not the boat will tip over if you rock it just a little harder.
- when you are going to die.

If you did you might spend time worrying over it which might better be invested in doing things worth while.

the trap crop. If this strip of crop is well developed the great majority of the eggs will be laid there. If the field was in wheat and severely infested the previous season it should be summer-fallowed, seeded to oats, or to a sawfly-immune crop such as flax or sweet clover. If seeded to oats no trap crop will attract the sawflies moving out of the field to some other crop.

There are two kinds of trap crops, TEMPORARY and PERMANENT TRAP CROP is one that is seeded on the head lands and left there permanently. Wheat, oats and rye can be used as temporary trap crops while brome grass makes an excellent permanent trap.

Brewerton's LimitedPROTEST MINIMUM WHEAT PRICE

Directors of the Alberta Wheat Pool, meeting in Calgary for their regular monthly session passed a resolution protesting against the fixed minimum and also the enactment which prevents the wheat board accepting deliveries until the price level goes below 90 cents a bushel.

In the words of the resolution the ruling "was considered tantamount to ordering withdrawal of the wheat board from fulfilling the function for which it was formed.

The Pool board expressed the opinion that the federal government in its action failed to consider its pre-election promise to market wheat at world levels and return to the grower in Canada a price commensurate with the cost of production.

"What the government's aggressive wheat board..."

move virtually amounts to," the Pool directors stated, "is an order to the western wheat growers to accept financial rewards for their labor based on world levels. What other class in Canada, outside primary producers, are thus treated

"We feel that the policy of the government is reactionary and that the interests of the wheat growers are not receiving the consideration they are entitled to, particularly in view of the considerate treatment given to wheat growers by the governments of virtually every other important wheat growing country in the world.

"The Pools obtained a wheat board after a long struggle and view its forthcoming disintegration with alarm and regret. The world wheat problem is not solved by any means and Canada needs an active and aggressive wheat board."
